DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by International Publication Number WO 02/077810 A1 to El Shobaki (hereafter referred to as "Shobaki").

Shobaki teach an integrated circuit fabricated on a chip (Claim 1: page 8, lines 31-33), comprising: an on-chip logic analyzer (Claim 1: see page 8, lines 12-13) including timestamp logic (Claim 1: see page 9, lines 4-9); an on-chip memory capable of storing data selected by said on-chip logic analyzer (Claim 1: see page 8, lines 5-7); wherein the data stored by said on-chip memory is combined with a timestamp field representing the number of cycles since the previous store operation (Claim 1: see page 8, lines 22-28 and also page 9, line 34 to page 10, line 21: The Examiner notes that an event is equivalent to a cycle and the reference monitors events including storing data).

Shobaki teaches a system wherein the timestamp logic includes a timestamp counter that generates a timestamp count value signal indicating the number of clock cycles since the previous store operation (Claim 2: see page 8, lines 22-28 and also page 9, line 34 to page 10, line 21: The Examiner notes that an event is equivalent to a cycle and the reference monitors events including storing data).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Claims 16-35 are allowed.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Micka et al. teach a method, system, and program for maintaining electronic data as a point-in-time. The prior art of record does teach a system for storing timestamp information together with selected data, comprising wherein the timestamp value represents the number of clock cycles that have been counted by the timestamp counter since the previous entry was stored in said memory, and wherein the timestamp counter forces a store operation if the timestamp value reaches a predetermined value.

The prior art of record also does not teach a processor wherein the timestamp counter counts the number of clock cycles since the previous data storage, and generates a timestamp count value of n bits, which can be selectively stored with the data in the memory, and wherein the timestamp counter is capable of forcing storage of data when the timestamp count value reaches a predetermined value.
